ଉତ୍କଳ ଦୀପିକା ।

THE I. C. S. NOMINATION.

We see in the papers that names of three candidates have been published as having been nominated for the next competitive I. C. S. Examination and the three are all Beharees. One is Babu Dwarka Prasad Sinha Sarma B. A. (2) Mr. Rushidury Zaman Professor Patna College, (3) Mr. S. N Muzumdar. We confess, we cannot say on what principle the selections have been made, because, we cannot understand the method adopted. Our Government must have made the selections on some well-considered principle, because, the nomination was meant for the whole Province and not for Behar exclusively. These nominations are by way of concessions made on account of the war for the recruitment of members for the whole service. What has then led our Government to nominate three Beharees exclusively and the Oriyas have been left in the lurch to mope? If exceptional or meritorious services be the reasons, military or otherwise, Orissa ought to go wrapped up in self-complacent and self-contested. Class or race distinction could not have prevailed upon the Government. What was then the prevailing factor which led our Government to nominate one B. A one a Professor and another of whom nothing has come out? There must be some very predominating element or factor which guided those in whose hands lay the conference of this "heavenly" boon on the three luckies. We have implicit faith and confidence in the constitution of the present Executives of our Government who, of what, we know are not easily to be swayed one way or other by any interested motives sectional or otherwise. But we Oriyas are led by interested motives. This is but natural. Rumours various and varied by means telepathic or wireless reach us that there are a deal of speculations and heartburnings in Behar itself as to these three nominations and Orissa therefore only echoes them. Was not there even one among the [illegible] Oriya candidates to be thought eligible for nomination? Among the [illegible], there were, M. A's, M. A. [illegible] B. A's B. Sc's Professors, I. C. S. plucked and what not? Yet what [illegible]? But the Oriyas are getting ambitious of a bit over. They ought to wait and bide time. They ought not to think for themselves as others are guarding their interest. They have not got education enough for which preparations are going on and are in "due" progress. A few graduates are mere off-shoots and drops in the ocean. Not a single of their [illegible] Magistrates has been given a district yet. This requires development and by theory of evolution in the grinding mill Orissa's time will come when she might aspire to reach her hands to the moon. For the present "Honoz Delhi dur ast" The time for "equal treatment" is not yet come and it is in the distant horizon, we say "Amen."

on roaming and mumping about mammy-sick gathering no moss and looking down upon the prospects of seeking pastures new? So long as the Oriyas do not try to forego this false pride of a jack-daw they will never thrive nor prosper. To begin low and rise high is not degrading, It is rather degenerating to loose opportunities with false ambitions which haunt our graduates and undergraduates and are seldom satisfied. They are generally found to be wanting in decision and by their characteristic vaccillation fling off opportunities which might form the first ladder to the top.

GOOD NEWS.

We are very glad to announce that the Madras Government has very kindly recognized the claims of the matriculates of the Patna University as equivalent to the passed students of the Madras School Final. This is [illegible] the Secretary of the Oriya Samaj Mr. H. Panda writes to us in communicating this information. "I am [illegible] that the representation of the Samaj has borne fruit by which the [illegible] of the Orissa Oriyas serving in Ganjam in promotion will [illegible] their prospects and [illegible] be removed." No small credit is due to the endeavours of the Samaj and to its indefatigable Secretary our friend Mr. Panda. The way clear now and will the Oriya matrics of this part of Orissa or as Mr. Panda puts it "Orissa Oriyas" take advantage of openings in the education Dept. of the Ganjam District in appreciable numbers or [illegible]

Official attitude.

"Rather break than bend" is a good old Indian saying, as old as the sages of old who coined the aphorism. But with the spread and expansion of Western ideas, Western education, Western civilization and Western all, many of the Eastern sayings and teachings pregnant with meanings which held good for long, have undergone changes. Officials wielding administrative powers throughout the Empire have helped wittingly or unwittingly to bring on the change. Instances of such changes are numerous and can be multiplied but just one will do to suit our purpose for to-day. The good old aphorism we have quoted above now stands "neither break nor bend". This is the official coinage of the present day, stamped and followed and this is the "official attitude" in other words. When an order is passed it must stand, no matter however, hard, rigid or unreasonable. The official, the author of the order will not "bend nor break". Entreat, protest or appeal there it stands signed and sealed as the law of Moses. Infringe it, retribution is inevitable. We will now illustrate what we mean by one very simple instance. We mean the construction of the "Beef-stall" at the Cantonment New Market. Our District Magistrate an otherwise extremely genial man and officer was approached, there were vehement protestations by Hindus and Musalmans but he could not see his way to alter the site selected because, there was no good reason for the same. An official is an official, especially a Civilian. He leads an official life throughout, because, he has no other life in so far as his connection with those whom he rules lies. As an official of the order of bureaucracy used to exercise of powers and rights which are seldom or never disputed, he at once rejected the appeal made to him by both Hindus and Mahamedans, because, there was no good reason. The edict once gone forth cannot easily be revoked. A Civilian will neither "bend nor break." He would stand his ground as a rock adamantine though thousands of Hindus and Mahamedans appeal to him to revoke an order. "No good reason", admitted. But then why this protest in which both Hindus and Mahamedans have made a common cause? Was the meeting of thousands of people of both communities an artificially "got up" one? If "got up" why? Is it not a fact that a site selected near the Pension line was given up because the Mahamedans took strong objection to it? Why then this second imposition against the declared wish and protest of the Hindus and Mahamedans? The meeting was not a "got up" one and if it was, there were good grounds for it. Hindus apart, Mahamedans do not want it. Europeans do not, because, they do not care for the beef meat. Who wants it then? Only those who go after cheap meat and they are the low and poorer classes of beef-eaters for whom there are more than one stall in certain parts of the town to which no objection has been taken and the stalls have gone unmolested. It is said that a market of new style would not be complete without a beef-stall. But Cuttack is not Calcutta nor like any other big towns existing elsewhere. Every place has its peculiarities and circumstances suited to it. There is such a thing as the susceptibilities of the feelings and sentiments of the people who are residents of the town and Cuttack is such a place and such a town. Why then ignore the feelings of the people to whom a little practical sympathy shown would have removed the bitterness and resentment unnecessarily created in their mind and would have made them cry "Hallelujah". Now, will our District officer and those whose advice he sought and whom he consulted allow us to put one question point-blank? A beef-stall is necessary for a market, why not a pork-stall then? The latter will form an appropriate and necessary adjunct to a market started on a new style. There are a large class of people who relish the meat highly and if installed may be patronized by even a certain class of Europeans, if a pig highly fed and fattened at home is brought to the market duly advertized. Because in their case the maxim of "taste not, touch not, talk not, smell not" does not hold. If there has been a beef-stall there ought to be a pork-stall. Will the District Magistrate allow this? He ought to. This will, perhaps, give a quietus to the so-called got-up agitation.

Communique.

The 10th February 1920.

A report has been received by the Local Government from the District Magistrate of Cuttack on the subject of the complaints which have been made in connection with the erection of a beef stall in the Cuttack Municipality. This report shows that the site on which the stall is being erected was selected in March last by a number of Hindu and Mahammadan gentlemen including eight Municipal Commissioners (six Hindus and two Mahammadans) who had been asked to take particular care that the place selected should not be open to any religious objections. In their letter suggesting the present site, it is described as "aloof from all sides". No objection was raised until construction was begun about the beginning of last month. The District Magistrate then again inspected the spot and not only promised that the stall should be screened from public view by a wall but also undertook to issue an order prohibiting purchasers of beef from proceeding with their purchases into the main market.

It is understood that the chief objection now taken to the site is that a tank situated 45 yards away might become polluted. As it is encircled by a high palisade with closely set standards, and the natural slope of the ground is in the opposite direction, this seems most unlikely, and in any case this point must have been taken into consideration by the leading Hindu gentlemen who helped to select the site. In these circumstances, while awaiting the promised memorial, the Lieutenant Governor in Council regrets that he is unable to give orders for building operation to be suspended.

Orissa Union.

The Hon'ble Mr. S. Sinha has moved the following resolution in the Imperial Legislative Council. That a mixed committee of non-officials and officials be appointed to formulate a scheme for the amalgamation of the Oriya-speaking tracts at present administered or controlled by the Governments of Madras, Bengal and Central Provinces with the existing Orissa Division of the province of Bihar."

We simply publish Mr. Sinha's resolution in our to-day's issue. The resolution appears to be controversial. We fear the resolution, as it stands, will not serve the purpose of Orissa as Orissa does not want mere amalgamation.

The Reform Act.

All are astir. All are moving. All are at a run and we take a little rhetorical license and say that all are moving almost at a meteoric speed. All must move, because, time like life is short. All must be kept ready cut and dry against His Royal Highness the Prince of Wale's arrival who is to perform the ceremony of the opening of the new Indian Legislature according to the Reforms Act. All are therefore preparing for the new Era without rest or respite scorning delights and living laborious days. All have spoken & pronounced the lines of action and procedure. His Excellency the Viceroy has done so and so also the Presidency and Provincial satraps. Rules and Regulations are being got ready or are almost ready and the Franchise question with all its complex details is now taxing the brains of the Governors. It is the chief work, we mean the preparation of the election rolls and is fraught with difficulties. We are concerned with our own Province and our Lieutenant Governor has the other day from his seat in the Council spoken of the difficulties of ascertaining the 6,00,000 of electors scattered all over the Province. Every possible means, no doubt will be adopted to prepare the rolls as correctly as they might be under the circumstances. All these must be done but the question is when done, how is the supreme question of the exercise of the privilege given to the electors to be decided or settled. The ignorance and obtuseness not to say the supreme indifference of the masses of the rural districts are well known. They are till now, living in their happy ignorance. They, it may be said without exaggeration, know almost next to nothing about what is going on in the outside world with so much vigour and vehemence which has set into upheaval the whole of the educated Indian world, nor of the actual matlab (policy) of the Government. We need not say that our remarks apply only to Orissa. It applies no less to a great portion of Behar proper the rural classes of which are in no better position. The Vernacular papers, whatever, may be their diseminating influence elsewhere, or in the sister-province of Bengal, their influence, is almost nil in Orissa. The education of the electors is a question of time which, cannot in the present circumstances, be taken by the forelock. The inevitable result will, we fear, be, what happens in such cases that they will fall easy preys to the designing would-be-elected to the Councils, who would not scruple to use all the means in their power and purse to secure their end at the cost of those who ought to go elected as the real representatives of the people. This is no mere shadowy apprehension or conjecture based upon what is called a pessimist's angle of vision at the very outset. The probability is more on the other side, as nothing, however, stringent not even "a complete and stringent Corrupt Practices Act" will cope adequately to meet the designs and guiles of the unscrupulous, and those who will sit all sure cross legged relying on their assured positions will go like rubber bubble toys with the unenviable Lathi-ka Nadu" in their palms. We wished to stop here to day but we could not resist the temptation of giving the following extract from a letter we received from an esteemed and eminent friend of ours from Bengal who draws the very possible picture in a very practical way. We hope the extract will prove interesting and instructive.

"What is the position created by the Reform Act? My own district has on the roll 60,000 non-mahamedan and 40,000 Mohamedan voters according to the scheme of franchise provided in the Act. The electorate roll was lately prepared there. I presume that in your Cuttack, the number will be much larger than the above, especially of non mahamedan voters. Mr. M. S. Das is no doubt well known in Orissa. If he were to seek election but declined to make wide-spread and effective arrangements for canvassing, whereas a much less known rival were to set up an electorate canvassing machinery regardless of expense, I am almost certain that good Mr. Das will find himself hopelessly beaten at the polls by his active though insignificant rival. If such a disaster happens, it will not be at all unusual or un-expected. Such things have happened time and again in England in spite of the vigour and healthiness of the political life in their country and such things are bound to happen in India. Mr. Gladstone has tasted the bitterness of defeat and so has Mr. Asquith, not to speak of lesser lights. Every one of them has spent money.

I therefore ask you to bear this central fact in mind when you talk of the grip of the political helm. The fact is this. Political life, in its hitherto accepted sense, has so long consisted merely of the articulate minority who attended meetings and supplied copy to the newspaper. But the Reform Act has just conferred the franchise upon a class living in the backslums of towns or in the country side. These classes are silent but are ten or twenty times as numerous as the vociferous minority. The great question is how to catch their votes?

Now, my friend, the man or the party leader who will gather together in his party a number of followers who will be prepared to spend money on canvassing or other necessary (and legally permissible) election expenses, who will set up local organizations for influencing the voters living in the back slums in towns and voters living in the country side, that man will win the day. To the man who keeps hold of his purse strings my advice is "eschew politics."

I am convinced that in Bengal neither Surendranath nor C. R. Das holds the winning cards in his hand. Neither of them is so far doing anything to organize matters to capture the votes of the inarticulate masses. Until they do so, and, until their followers come to the fray with a well-filled purse and loosen their purse strings, their chances at the polls will remain thoroughly uncertain. I have friends in both sides and when I hear of a demonstration here or there in Calcutta in favour of one leader or the other I laugh at the utter worthlessness of their demonstration to influence the General Election. If you were to drop a stone in the sea near the Saugor Island will you perceive its effect at Puri? Politics had hitherto been a hallowed drawing-room affair. Mr Montagu's Act has infused germs of life that are bound to come to vigour within the next few years. If the leaders of the present day want to be ministers they must lose no time and spare no expense in setting up organizations. If they don't do so, they will certainly go down. Politics is a costly affair in England and will be so here. The great merits of the Reform Act is that it has set up substance for sham. A few speeches will not win election. At a very modest estimate, I guess that in a district election a candidate will have to spend between Rs 15000 to Rs 20,000 in election expense. Imagine what an army of canvassers will be necessary? He can't expect his party to pay him this sum. He must spend it himself as they do in England and elsewhere. But my friends seeking "Parliamentary" honours in local legislatures must prepare themselves to spend money and to move about. Such reasonableness of the masses exists nowhere outside the fevered brain of the visionary and the man who expects their votes for him without effort and preliminary organisation is an impractical visionary. Such a man will do well to keep out of politics. It will spare him disappointment."

In order to preven the price of rice from being raised to extent which would cause hardship to the consumers in India, the Government of India have decided to continue to restrict export of rice from India for the whole of the year 1920. Export from India will only be allowed to supply the minimum requirements of countries depedent on India for such supplies, and export from Burma will be restricted to the surplus available after providing for India's needs. It is consequently useless for merchants to busy up large quantities of rice in the hope that they will make big profits by exporting it to foreign countries.

Secretary to Government of Bihar and Orissa.
